Quick tips for writing reviews:

Keep it relevant. Let others know what made you want to rate this asset.

Cover the basics. Tell the community the about your experience so others can benefit from your input.

Don't make it personal. We understand that things may get frustrating at times, but don't take it out in a review.

Keep it classy. Your review will be visible to the public and is tied to your profile information.

What's up with this?

Positive reviews are very valuable for publishers. They communicate other potential customers that they purchase a quality product. On another aspect, publishers will be able to offer higher quality and more long-term support for products that are commercially successful.

I wish to reward customers that are satisfied with my product and support it by giving it a good rating. If you decide to do so on the store feel free to message me afterwards. Due to other potentially conflicting sales on the store that happen from time to time I can't promise anything but I might have a voucher, discount or something else in store for you to return the love :)
